MORE THAN AN INSULT

is How the New York Yachtmen Character-Ize Dunrayen's Outrageous Allegation.

CONTEMPT FOR THE ENGLISHMAN.

uant, He Says the Charge is False, and is One of the Many Excuses of Dunraven's to the English Public for His Failure to Win the Cup.

New York, Nov. 9.—There was great indignation among the members of the New York Yacht Club this morning over Lord Dunraven's statement which was published in the Field, of London, to-day, and of which a comprehensive synopsis was cabled last night. The members generally could not fine terms strong enough to express their contempt of Lord Dunraven and his latest action in the great international yachting fiasco. It was a deliberate insult to the whole American people, they declared and one that could not be passed over lightly. Indeed, the opinion of the club was expressed in one of its members comment, when he said: "This is more than an insult. It is a deliberate outrage, and one that proves that Lord Dunraven is no gentleman."

All sorts of ideas are put forth as to the proper treatment of Dunraven's last statement, Many members suggested ignoring the matter entirely, as being beneath the dignity of gentlemen, while others went so far as to favor demanding the resignation of His Lordship from the New York Yacht Club, of which he was made a member in 1823, on the occarion of his first challenge for the America's cup. (It was even further intimated that in the event of his resignation not being tendered, he would be expelled from the club as unfit for membership. Certainly such an extreme measure would hardly appear probable, but the frame of mind the New York Yacht Club on a cation, no matter how severe, would convey any idea of their feelings and contempt for Lord Dunraven.

James D. Smith, the chairman of the America's Cup Committee, was in a state of great indignation when seen this morning by a representative of the United Press. The ex-commodore was so indignant, that at lirst he refused to discuss the matter. Finally he said:

"I am astounded at the allegations of Lord Dunraven, if he is cerrectly reported. He makes a distinct charge of dishonesty on the part of the managers of the Defender, charges such men, mind you, as Mr. William K. Vanderbilt, Mr. Morgan and Islen, with dishonest action.

"Such a charge is outrageous; it is false; it is shameful, yes, it is shameless, it will only add to the contempt in which the late challenger is held by the people of America and also by the better class of English gentlemen.

"In my opinion, it is one of the many excuses of Lord Dunraven to the English public for his failure to bring back the America's cup. I desire to capphatically denounce his charges from beginning to end. The whole world knows it is not true."

What Pall-Mall Gaze(te Says.

London, November 2.—The Pall Mall Gazette, referring to Lord Dunraven's statement relative to the contest for the America's cup, says:

"Lord Durraven's allegation that the Cup Committee knew of his charge that there had been foul play in the measurement of Defender and made no attempt to verify it, is a most serious accusation. It the committee had investigated and found that Lord Dunraven was wrong, they could have declined to race with him again with perfect propriety, not to say that they could have horsewhipped him with equal propriety. But they did not take any action in the matter. If the Defender's ballast was doctored it must be certain that a number of persons knew it."

For the Renefit of the University of Virginia.

A game of football, the proceeds of which will be given to the University of Virginia, will be played next Thursday afternoon at the Y. M. C. A. Park, Ghent, between the well known Norfolk team and the team from the United States Navy-yard, composed of officers from the men-of-wer Raleigh, Montgomery, Amphitrite and Minneapotis, Let all come out and swell the fund for the old University, whose loss by the recent fire was an Irreparable one, not only to our Commonwealth, but to the nation at large.

only to our Commonwealth, but to the nation at large.

The game will be a fine, clean one, the navy officers all being graduates of Annapolis and football veterans. Norfolk society will be out in full force, the may boys being very popular with the fair ones. The Norfolk boys may be depended on to put up a sharp, snappy game. The line up of both teams will be given later on. Admission will be 50 cents for gentlemen and 25 cents for ladles and the young boys.

Meeting for Men.

At the Young Men's Christian Association this afternoon at 4 o'clock the following programme will be rendered. Prayer, hymn, song service, led by Mr. J. P. Grandy, with orchestral accompaniment; instrumental trio, Profs. Berjes, Mettke and Rochussen; offering to the work of the International Committee; address, Rev. A. S. Lloyd, rector of St. Luke's Church.

At 2:30 o'clock there will be a specialmeeting of the Boys' Gospel Army, to which parents and guardlans of the members are invited.

Atention is called to the advertisemen of J. F. Hatton & Co., rental agents, which appears in another column. Both of the gentlemen composing the firm are well and favorably known in this community, and it is quite certain that they will meet with success in their ew enterprise.

How They Did I(No One Knows.)

The advertisement of Watt, Retiew & Clay, of men's genuine Swits-Conde underwerr at $2 a suit is one that will strike most all men in the pocket-book. How they do this nobody know, for everybody reads The Virginian.

AMUSEMENTS.

MARIE WAINWRIGHT—Ohe of the most attractive engagements of the season is always that of the charming actress, Marie Wainwright. Her appearance this season at the Academy of Music on Wednesday and Thursday, November 13th and 14th, will be rendered especially noteworthy by the presentation of "The Love Chase" and "An Unequal Match," two of the greatest comedies in the language. Sheridan Knowles's best play, "The Love Chase," will be given on Wednesday. This is gorgeously costumed in the style of Charles II., and is ended by a Gavotte, danced by Miss Wainwright, and all the principals. The New York Express said: "Miss Wainwright display of temper was decidedly life-like, and won great applause, and was enthusiasticully received."

On Thursday Miss Wainwright will present Tom. Taylor's famous comedy. "An Unequal Match."

The sale of seats will begin Tuesday morning. Prices, 25c., 59c., 75c., and 31, "THE WHITE SQUADRON,"—The attraction at the Academy of Music next Friday night only is the elaborate reproduction of the great play, "The White Squadron." The play is built on patriotic lines and a deeply interesting story is developed. The stage is continuously #21cd with thrilling episodes and beautiful stage pictures. In the third act the vessels of the magnificent "White Squadron," under full steam and sall, are shown.

The sale of seats will begin next Thursday.

"THE TWO ORPHANS,"—One of the events of the amusement season here will be the engagement of Kate Clayton.

Thursday.

"THE TWO ORPHANS,"—One of the events of the amusement season here will be the engagement of Kate Claxton presenting her elaborate revival of the famous "Two Orphans," with all the magnificent scenery and effects, at the Academy to-morrow (Monday) night only.

The revival of D'Ennery's powerful emotional drama, with Miss Claxton as Louise, is sufficient to fill the Academy.

Of Kate Claxton, it is needles to say anything. The past is pre-eminently her own.

Her name and that of the blind orphan are synonymous to almost a generation of theatre-geers as the finest exhibition of emotional acting upon the contemporary stage.

There has been a very large demand for seats, and prices not being advanced should guarantee a packed house.

ROMEO AND JULIET AND OTHELLO.—The Hanford. Spencer, and O'Brien Combination gave two excellent performances at the Academy of Music yesterday afternoon and evening, and on both occasions before well pleased audiences. In the afternoon Romeo and Juliet was presented and at night the company closed its engagement with Othello, and it is but faint praise to say that they were finished performances.

Night—The Decorations.

The long-looked-for and much-talked-about Carnival of Trade will open at the Armory to-morrow night. For a week past carpenters have been building the booths and now the ladies have taken the hall in charge and are converting it into a veritable fairy land. Many attractions are promised during the coming week, among them Polk Miller, Rev. Thomas Dixon, the Persian Guards' March and Battle, and several others. There will, no doubt, be large crowds in attendance each night, for the several booths will be in charge of the following ladies, who will have some 200 young and pretty assis-

The Drowned Men.

The Drowned Men.

The cook and fireman drowned by the sinking of the tug Katle, in Hampton Roads Priday night, were Anderson Gibbs and Bernard Randall, both colored. Captain Goodwin and the survivors of the crew were brought to the city yesterday morning and are at their homes. Henry Heitman, the engineer, was somewhat bruised by coming up and striking the bottom of the Newport News. The steamer William Coley, with a diver, is trying to find the bodies of the drowned men.

A Mill on Fire.

The blowing of innumerable steam whistles and ringing of bells in the harbor shortly before midnight was caused by a fire in the rear of Berkley on the Southern Branch, said to have been at Johnson's saw mill, nearly opposite the lower end of the mavy-yard. Several tugs went to the seene of the fire, but were not needed, as the blaze was smothered with but little damage.

London, Nov. 9.—The conservative press, notably the St. James Gazette, sides with the employes, holding that the Belfast strike is simply a movement for a return to the old wages that were reduced under the assent of the men while times were bad.

The price of consuls has shaken during the week as if Great Britain was on the eve of a war. Some authorities attribute the drop of 2½, that has occurred during the week, partially to warfears. Those knowing the exact character of consol sales state that it is due to numberless small fund holders selling out to meet their losses in the South African mining speculations. Strong speculators have, as usual, gkinned the small capitallists who wanted to add something to their little piles acquired by years of industry.

New York-English households have a black winter to look forward to owing to the mania of speculation that turned the heads of their bread winners. These considerations, however, did not prevent Sir Joseph Renals, the present Lord Mayor of London, from giving a banquet Thursday at the Mansion House, his official residence, to Mr. Barney Bannanto, the leader of the Kafilr circus. Sir Joseph's reputation as a company promoter and general "Guinea Pig" very nearly prevented his election as Chief Magistrate of the city of Lon-

Though the carrying out of this plan would be tanamount to the dismemberment of the Turkish Empire, the Spectator proceeds to say that Europe's gigantle armaments could not be better employed than in restoring the East to the domain of civilization. When the leading Unionist organ writes thus, it is evident that the time of the Turks in Europe is obviously closing. Before the feud between the Healylies and McCarthyltes reached its present climax two efforts to effect reconcliation were privately made—first by eminent English Liberals who were desirous of preventing another Irish split, and, secondly, by certain Irish Catholic prelates. The Healylies resented the interference of the Liberals, but placed themselves at the Liberals, but placed themselves at the disposal of the prelates, who, in turn, found that the McCarthylies rejected their overtures. Suicide on a Steamer.

W. H. Collyer, a well-dressed man, about 49 years of age, apparently of some means and recently from San Francisco, shot and killed himself Friday evening in a stateroom on the steamer Nonfolk just before it left Washington, D. C., for Norfolk. The deceased spent some time in this city during last summer. He was a Royal Arch Mason, and his business was, it seems, that of a handler of the output of sawmills. His near relatives are thought to be in Michigan.

THE KICKING TIGERS

Prove Too Strong for Cornell in a Same o Football and Come Out Victorious.

THE SCORE STOOD AT THE FINISH 6 TO O

sequently Weakened When il Tigers Indulged in Hard and

New York, Nov. 2.—Princeton day feated Cornell this afternoon in one to the closest foot-ball games that has been witnessed in some time. Contrart to all expectations, Princeton wall amazingly weak, considering the game she put up against Harvard a week ago. For the greater part of the time Cornell kept the ball well down in Princeton's territory, and it wish not till within a few moments of the end of the last half, the Princeton's braced up and forced the ball toward. Cornell's goal line. The time was almost up and it was a question of great uncertainty whether it was possible for the Tigers to carry the ball the remaining distance before the reference's whistle should blow. Mr. Difficied announced that there were but two minutes of play when Princeton had the ball on Cornell's 25-yard line. Then it was the Tigers put forth their utmost efforts. The Cornell supporters were already cheering as though the game were over, with the score at zero but at every play Princeton gained from four to eight yards. Bannard and Rosengarten were doing their very best. Plunge after plunge was made and with the aid of the revolving mass play the ball went down to within five yards of the line. Two more flerce assaults and the struggling mass settled down directly over the line. The official scorer hurried up and as the mass began to open up, Bannard was found holding the ball down just behind Cornell's goal line. It was now Princeton's turn to cheer, for they had at least made a touchdown. Riggs sent the oval between the goal posts, making the score 6 to 0 and the game was practically at an end.
